The DIMMER VIEW

by Max Goodwin

View of Our Changing Courts

The reputation for wisdom and justice has long been the hallmark of our nation's courts and of our judges who operate them.

This well-earned reputation may be the vehicle by which some of our judges, and their courts, have developed messianic complexes. They have come to believe, in some cases, that they are deified. Court aides have helped convince them they are.

There may be other reasons for complaint but this treatise has only three points — all coming under the heading of self-deification.

This report was triggered by a wire service story a few days ago that reported federal and appelate judges had filed suit against us (taxpayers) in the U.S. Claims Court for a 34½ per cent increase in their annual wages of $40,000.00

It should be noted that $40,000.00 does not include fringe benefits that could double their income.

Considering the annual $40,000.00 wage doubled by fringes, and adding 34½ per cent of $40,000.00, the basic wage becomes $94,000.00.

That's not a bad pay for a guy who works five days a week —and usually less—for about 5 hours a day. That figures about $880 a day, or about $175 an hour.

That's more than the teamsters make!

An unconscionable hike in salary as this nation is battling the worst inflationary pressure in history, shows a certain feeling of omnipotence on the bench.

The second un-deifying activity is the thing called the "gag rule". In that the press is restrained from telling our citizens how their business is being conducted. In this matter, the first and sixth constitutional amendments come into conflict. Article 1 assures the freedom of the press, speech and religion. 6 assures a citizen of a speedy and public trial. Omnipotents have argued that a jury cannot be impartial if it knows anything about the case other than what is heard in court. Rational citizens argue that jurors who know little about current events are not good jurors. These elements alone make it 2 to 1 against judges.

And the third matter is that of the victim of crime. All of the court protection now goes to the defendant. The victim is often handled as if he were suspect. We think courts have gone ape in their determination to protect the accused.

A recent set of incidents has to do with a burglary suspect who had been captured with some of the loot in his possession. On two other occasions he had been charged with burglary, and found guilty. He had served no time and had been given probation. On the day that he faced a judge for the third time for burglary, he was given probation.

On the same day a motorist who had been stopped for a minor infraction was found to be driving on a suspended license. He was jailed for 90 days, the report indicated. No probation for him. The philosophy is that this guy defied the court. He was jailed on a contempt charge. What about the victims of the burglar? The court apparently coonsiders them "some people out there who shouldn't leave their valuables unguarded."

Such an opinion could come only from Mt. Olympus!

A report from the U.S. Press Assn. spotlights some other ills of our present-day court philosophy.

It asks: Do the courts in the U.S. — a country renowned for its Constitutional guarantees to the right of life for its citizens —now consider human life to be so cheap and of such little value that thieves and murderers can destroy innocent lives, with little or no possibility that they will be punished for their crimes?

Consider these:

In Washington D.C., a confessed murderer — who bragged on tape and on camera, that he had committed murder as a paid "hit man" — was arrested and arraigned in the D.C. Superior Court early in March. Within hours after his arrest, the man was freed by the Court and was back on the streets, having posted a mere $1,000 bond. The judge cited a technicality in the law.

In Rockville, MD., on March 11, 1975, a young hoodlum with a sawed-off shotgun blasted away the life of a young, 18-year old, clean-cut Montgomery College student, Mahlon Mc Cracken. Indicted for first-degree murder and three handgun felonies, the killer "plea bargained" and pleaded guilty to second degree murder.

For this cold-blooded crime, the killer was given four years in prison, which under liberal parole rules means that he could be released in one year or less.

Frank Carrington, in his book, "The Victims", tells of a hideous rape-murder in Iowa. The defendant had been advised of his "Miranda" rights three times. But, because he voluntarily told the police where the body of his victim was buried, he was released by a Federal Court judge.

Washingtonians were shocked earlier this year by a mass murder which took place in March. Five innocent victims, including a Nigerian couple studying at Luther Rice College in preparation for missionary service in their country, were slaughtered at a popular family restaurant by an unknown killer.

But, why not?

Murderers are encouraged by the fact that convicted and confessed killers are being given prison sentences less than they might have received for cheating on their income tax!

Police Chief M. J. Cullinane of D.C. views our criminal justice system a "revolving door for criminals."

These judges should be removed from office by impeachment or other means when it can be shown that their sympathies are clearly with the criminals rather than with their victims.

And finally, under the heading of "who is indicting whom?" is a report from the police about men who relieved themselves in beer cans and placed them on the sidewalks during the Thursday night car cruises in Lemon Grove. They were arrested for "littering" — a proper charge although it might have been a more severe and appropriate charge of "indecent exposure". They escaped facing court when deputy district attorneys refused to issue on the charge by saying the "El Cajon Municipal Court judges would not accept such a charge."

Omnipotence runs deep — as long as we permit it.

Ronald Reagan Says:

We must consider the adverse environmental effect impact of every major activity in our society and find reasonable, workable ways to minimize the impact, but without at the same time bringing economic development to a sudden and catastrophic halt.

THRONGS — Some of the thousands who lined Broadway and Imperial view the colorful Al Bahr Shrine Temple division of the Old Time Days parade. Temple flag bearers fill the street with red, white and blue and signal the traditional beginning of the Al Bahr contingent of 18 units.

Many Attracted to Largest OTD Parade

The clouds were breaking as the Escondido Police Motorcycle Drill Team went into their precision cycling maneuvers shortly after 11 a.m. Saturday, touching off the largest and longest parade in Old Time Days history.

Thousands jammed Lemon Grove's main streets to view this year's event which contained over 180 units. Parade officials estimated the crowd at more than last year's estimated 30,000.

Many more viewed the parade on television. For the first time, the entire parade was delay broadcast to cable TV subscribers.

The more than 180 units caused some confusion for parade officials at the starting point. Some units were shuffled and misplaced, but most were directed down Broadway on schedule.

Another ten days of "Old Time Days" activities are planned including a carnival April 14-18 on the grounds of Lemon Grove Jr. High, at Lincoln st. and School ln.

The carnival takes over the school grounds during its Easter break.

Carnival booths can be reserved by contacting the Chamber of Commerce secretary Glenda Jackson, 469-9621. The Chamber office has a limited supply of professional games, and groups are welcomed to set up their own booth activities. Information regarding booth regulations is available at the Chamber office. Hours are Monday through Friday, 8 a.m. to 2 p.m.

More activities are scheduled for this weekend. The perennial Kiwanis Pancake Day has been scheduled into the "Old Time Days" events this year. Lemon Grove Kiwanians will serve a $1.50 donation pancake breakfast to all comers from 7 a.m. to 6 p.m. at Lemon Grove Jr. High.

Three hours of square dancing follows in the school auditorium. The "Bicentennial Square Dance Jamboree" is held from 8 to 11 p.m.

Saturday and Sunday at Pio Pico Park in Jamul, Old Time Days extends into Jamul where cutting horse and stock horse shows will be presented.

Car Crowd Drop Continues In Thursday Car Cruise

The Thursday night car cruise on Broadway in Lemon Grove continues to drop in attendance.

A sheriff's sergeant estimated the turnout in the Broadway parking strips to be "slightly less than the week previous."

That week a custom car show in the Community Concourse in downtown San Diego drew many cruisers. If the custom car buffs who normally attend the Thursday night "thing" in Lemon Grove were missing the week before, it indicates a continued drop in attendance.

Police were busy as usual where lawbreaking occurred. 9 adults were arrested on misdemeanor chargers ranging from litter to drink. One adult was charged with felony drug possession. Three juveniles citations were arrested.

Parking on the strips that straddle Broadway is not actionable, police point out, because the property is privately owned.

"What would happen if Broadway merchants conducted a Thursday night sale event and cruisers took over the parking strips?" an officer was asked.

"If the business people complained, we would take corrective action," he said.

21 in Race for Supervisor

You can't tell the players without a program.

That old sports adage applies this year to the candidates' list of names for the County Board of Supervisors in District 2.

The official list, but not in the order names will appear on the June ballot, reads like this:

David Eden, Stan Boney, Lucille Moore and Ike Huyser

Walt Kenrick, Carl Vernell, John Ortman and Joe Gaskill

Dick White, Peter Cuthbert, Gail C. Nobel and Reda Hinckley

Judy Evans, Cheryl Briggs, Art Green and William Faulwetter

Glenn Bolter

Richard W. Walk is listed as a "write in".

Padres Season Opens Friday

It's opening day at the old ball park.

More precisely, it's opening night at San Diego's modern stadium, where the Padres host the Atlanta Braves for the first of a three-game series.

It opens an 81 home-game season with fresh young players — and a sprinkling of old ones—that gives more promise for a successful season than those seasons past.

Military bands, drum and bugle corps and flag teams add a Centennial spark to the proceedings starting at 6:30.

S.D. Mayor Pete Wilson will toss out the first ball.

Immediately after the game is one of the Padres famed fireworks displays—about 20 minutes of gunpowder and thunder.

Buses will leave an hour ahead of time from College Grove parking area.

14 Youngsters Are Costume Contest Winners

There were fourteen winners in the Old Time Days Parade kid's costume contest Saturday, but all of the children were winners as entries were permitted to march down Broadway in the parade.

Winners of the best overall theme were Art Takanashi and Jennifer Stanko with costumes reflecting the spirit of the American Bicentennial.

First in the boys pre-school division was Michael Meza. Gregory Smith and Gred Batterson tied for second place.

Pre-schooler Vickie Hultuist was the top and only entry in the girls division.

In the 5 to 8 year old group, winner was John Viessman followed by Steve Puhn in boys division; Girls: Christina Meza, first, and Terry Reigburn, second.

Patrick Jenkins wore best costume for boys, 9 to 12. Alan McFarland was second. Best costumed girl in that group was Robin Belanger. Tina Duran was judged second best.

Judging the contest were Lemon Grove School Superintendent Dr. Robert Sutton and his wife; also Mrs. Mike Maxson.

Massage Bill $800

When Jerry Romo Siguelros, a plaster tender, of Carlsbad entered the Valley Oasis for an early morning massage on March 30, it cost him more than just the charges for the services of a masseuse, he told sheriff's deputies.

Siguelros, 37, said he entered the parlor located at 3420 Harris st., in Lemon Grove, at 9:30 a.m. and while he was getting a treatment, someone took $800 from his clothes which were hung in a closet.

LG Planning Assn. Meeting Tonight

A meeting of the Lemon Grove Community Planning Association is held tonight at 7:30 at Golden Avenue Elementary School. The meeting is open to the public.

Topic of discussion will be recent changes in the county general plan regarding Lemon Grove.

LG City May Get All VLM Acreage

Mum's the word at the county administration office regarding the Lemon Grove Incorporation Committee and La Mesa's dispute over the Vista La Mesa area.

Proponents of Lemon Grove cityhood want the entire area, a little over one square mile of highly residential property, to fall within their proposed boundaries, while La Mesa city officials have been hoping to include the property in their reorganization plans.

Highway 94 was drafted as the original north boundary in the county's initial study completed by the Office of Intergovernmental Affairs (OIA) a year ago.

The Local Agency Formation Commission (LAFCO), a creature of the state charged with assisting local agencies and governments to form in an orderly fashion, amended the northern boundary at the request of Lemon Grove committeemen to include Vista La Mesa territory north of the highway to Waite dr. and Pearson st.

Last month, the Board of Supervisors delayed the decision that would have placed a Lemon Grove incorporation issue on the June 8 ballot after the City of La Mesa filed a last-minute protest against the proposed Lemon Grove boundaries.

La Mesa Mayor Paul Fordem claimed to have warned county officials of the protest at least one month in advance of the March meeting.

The word from Charlotte Langley, the staff member of OIA who has worked closely on the Lemon Grove issue, said that her office will take no further action regarding the proposed boundary until after the April 21 hearing before the Board of Supervisors.

LG Gets All?

A report, she said, will be released by the Clerk of the Board on April 14, one week prior to the hearing. Langley said that it is likely that the entire Vista La Mesa area, including a section of property called the American Homes subdivision, will be included in the revised boundaries of the proposed City of Lemon Grove.

Whatever recommendations are made by the Board following the April 26 hearing will be sent to LAFCO, which is also waiting silently until after the hearing.

Board Vacancy Goes to Ballot, LG School Trustees Decide

By John Kowalczyk

The governing board of the Lemon Grove School District voted Tuesday night to hold an election to fill the seat vacated recently by board member John Linn.

Linn is moving to Spring Valley.

The trustees voted unanimously to place the election on the November 2 general election ballot in order to give all who were interested a fair chance at the seat.

"It's up to our constituents," said senior member H. Warren Buckner, "to decide who should serve."

The governing board waived its option to appoint a candidate to fill out the remaining year of Linn's term.

The seat will remain vacant for six months, and whoever is elected will serve only until next March when the same seat goes up for election again.

Superintendent Robert Sutton said that "considerable" expense will be saved by including the seat in the November election. A separate election would have cost the district an estimated $2,000, a figure that "costs more than the job pays," according to Trustee Henry Reinecke.

The motion to elect comes one month late for filing on the June 8 state primary ballot.

Two individuals and a representative of the Heartland Human Relations Association have written the board inquiring about the vacancy.

HHRA requested that the board appoint a woman or a minority if it chose that option.

Dentists Mark 'Smile Week'

Each year the San Diego County Rental Society sets aside a week to emphasize the necessity of good dental care, which is an integral part of the total health program for people of all ages.

Dr. Peter Shea, area coordinator of this year's program, reports that fourth and fifth grade children from public and private schools in the Lemon Grove area are being examined this week and charted in an effort to bring Smile Power Week to the attention of the school children. Doctors participating in this area are:

Burton Norris, D.D.S., Rodger Ballard, D.D.S., Richard Cavallero, D.D.S, Donald Johnson, D.D.S., Dennis McLaughlin, D.D.S., Albert Nottoli, D.D.S., and Robert Swenson, D.D.S.

Dental care begins with the attention to the nutrition of the expectant mother and continuing with the baby before the first tooth appears. A good report after a dental examination brings Smile Power, and continued care of the teeth will keep the smile.

2 Principals To be Feted At May Dinner

A dinner honoring two retiring principals is set for May 8, it was announced this week.

The dinner will be held at the Hilton Inn on E. Mission Bay dr. in San Diego. Price is $10 per person.

Reservations must be made by April 22 and are taken by Mrs. Joseph Luscher, 466-0959, or Mrs. Wayne Chubb, 469-5569.

Mills Switches from Jackson to Brown

State Senator James R. Mills, President Pro Tem, who earlier supported Henry Jackson for the presidential nomination of the Democratic Party, has joined forces with Gov. Jerry Brown's campaign.

"I was under the impression that Gov. Brown was not going to enter the presidential primary. As a long-time supporter of Gov. Brown I am delighted to be a part of his campaign.

"He is the most promising new figure on the political horizon," Mills said.

Beauty College Students Bring Home Trophies

Lemon Grove College of Beauty responded to a challenge by a branch school in Vista recently and came home with 11 trophies.

Some of the more outstanding freshmen, juniors and seniors in the DeLoux School of Cosmetology in Lemon Grove, known also at the Lemon Grove College of Beauty, woke up at the crack of dawn Sunday, March 28 to prepare their volunteer models for the contest in Vista. Also competing was the DeLoux school in Chula Vista.

Forty-five trophies were awarded in five areas of competition: hair cutting, day trend, evening trend, long hair and black trend.

Although the 11 trophies garnered by the Lemon Grove school were not the greatest number won at the contest, Supervisor Mrs. Polly Simmons was pleased with the achievements of her students.

"We were the smallest of the three schools competing," she said. Thirty-two attend classes in Lemon Grove, while the Chula Vista and Vista schools have about 80 each.

Mrs. Simmons and instructor Donna Graham run the school at 3135 Imperial. Students are enrolled for a state required 1600 hours of training, which takes nine months.

Those who trust their tresses to the hands of students can get cut-rate services at the school. Senior citizens can get half-price service Tuesday and Wednesday afternoon and young people's special days are Thursday and Friday.

Contest winners were: Edward "Abdul" Grayes, 3rd place, junior, evening trend; Charles Body II, 3rd, junior, hair cutting; Eddie Phelps, 1st junior, hairstyling; Nondo Romero, junior, 3rd day trend, 1st long hair and 2nd evening trend; Ronald Obrero, freshman, 2nd day trend, 2nd hair cutting, 3rd evening trend; Sue Judd, 3rd, freshman, day trend; and Marlene Hodgeson, 3rd, freshman, evening trend.

Goodwill Starts 'Spring Cleaning'

The month of April is recognized as "Spring Housecleaning" month by Goodwill, according to Eugene Morrill, director of the organization.

Clothing and shoes have been in such short supply that workers have had to go home early many days because of lack of work. "The best way we know to ease that problem," said Morrill, "is to make a broad appeal to the people of San Diego County during 'Spring Housecleaning' month to clean out unnneeded or unwanted items from shelves and backroom closets and garages."

By giving used and unneeded items, contributors will be helping people help themselves by giving them work at Goodwill and supplying low cost goods for those who buy newly repaired items at any of the seven Goodwill stores throughout the County, Morrill said.

Misprint Documents 'Mouse' Activities

Misprints are sometimes better than the real thing.

Take these samples from a clip sheet service:

If you think Congress has been meek in grappling with America's energy problems, consider this from the "New York Post," commenting on the progress of one energy bill: "Following Senate approval, the plan now goes to the Mouse."

Then, in the "New York Times": "Henry Ford II, who also complained yesterday of Government interference in his business, said that he finds making autos 'exciting, but not as much fund as it used to be'."

The topper is this from "Congressional Quarterly": "Under the 1972 ABM treaty, the United States and the Soviet Union were limited to two ABM sites each . . . The Soviet Union elected to defend only its missile site near Grand Forks, N.D."

Single-Minded, Single Footed 'Big Daddy' in 26th Drag Year

WINSTON-SALEM — A quarter century of racing!

Few men grow old gracefully behind the wheel of a dragster.

And Don "Big Daddy" Garlits was no different than 99 per cent of the men in world about becoming 40 years old. "I hated that day," he says emphatically.

But four years later he's saying life is "fun."

Believe it or not, but what made the difference was a stint in the hospital.

In 1970 while traveling down a drag strip in excess of 200 miles per hour, the engine on Garlits' dragster exploded, cutting off his foot.

With nothing but time to think while recovering from the accident, Garlits became convinced that a rear engine dragster was the only solution to assure that another driver wouldn't have to go through what he had.

"Before I got my foot cut off," Garlits says, "I said it (the rear engine idea) was the most ridiculous thing I'd ever heard of."

Garlits admits that, when he returned to the strips later that year to honor his commitments he hated the thought of piloting that 1,500-horsepower dragster.

"I remember at Fremont (Calif.) the last race that year, saying to myself, 'if I get through this thing, I'll never sit in one (a front engine dragster) again'."

Designer

He spent the entire winter at his shop in Seffner, Fla., designing the rear engine model that would become the dominant vehicle in the Top Fuel Division. In the last several years, every major event winner in the division has utilized the rear engine dragster.

But it was far from an immediate success. "As the start of the season drew closer and closer, I remembered what I had said at Fremont and I began to think I may have to quit to live up to my word. Things were just not going well," he said.

But Garlits, whose innovative mind has probably come up with more revolutionary ideas than anyone else in the sport's history, worked out all of the kinks.

And the success he's had since borders on the unbelievable.

In 1975 alone, his 25th year of drag racing, he won the International Hot Rod Assn. and the National Hot Rod Assn. championships and over $250,000, including $35,000 in point money from Winston cigarettes and NHRA.

Five Streaker

In the IHRA Winston-Challenge series, he put together a five-event winning streak—a feat never before accomplished in the division which he has dominated since the first day he hit the strip. For the year, he won six of the eight national meets.

And he was just as successful on the NHRA circuit, capturing four of the seven national Winston World championship series events he entered.

As a climax to the year, he piloted his Wynn's Charger to a world record of 5.63 seconds at a speed of 250.69 miles per hour in the Winston World Finals at Ontario. Both marks still stand.

"It's a pleasure now," says Garlits, whose 58 career national titles are more than double what anyone else has achieved. "I really love speed—the faster, the better. I love to race, but I don't care anything about risking my life."

After a quarter of a century of racing and at an age where retirement from driving would seem to be a logical thought, Garlits says, "It's in my blood. There no doubt about it.

"When my reflexes falter or I can't see, then I'll hang it up. They could last until I'm 50."

And on that day there will be no bitterness about reaching that milestone in his life.

Medico-Tennis Seminar Booked At Vic Braden's

COTO DE CAZA — One of the world's first Medical-Tennis Seminars, "Tennis for Everyone — Ages 3 to 80!" is held today and tomorrow at the Vic Braden Tennis College in Coto de Caza, a recreational resort in Orange County, some 65 miles south of Los Angeles.

Braden, president of the nonprofit National Foundation for Tennis Research sponsoring the event, said the seminar will "explore the medical challenges and problems arising from the population explosion of tennis players."

Recently published figures indicate an estimated 34 million involved in the nation's fastest-growing sport. Braden predicts 80 million tennis players by 1980.

Among topics discussed will be causes of "tennis elbow," effects of tennis on metabolism, the motoring of stress levels during competition, carbohydrate-loaded diets, allergies in active children, visual problems related to tennis and physical effects of improper playing styles.

Braden, a licensed psychologist, will put participants through his Tennis College, show them frame-by-frame analyses of playing styles and preview his filmed "Tennis Tips" now being aired on public television.

Retirement Age Lowered

Mandatory retirement age for callmen or reserve firemen of the Lemon Grove Fire Department has been set at 60 years by the FD Board of Directors at its March 15 meeting.

Padres Open Season Friday; Braves Here for Three Games

The action begins in earnest for the San Diego Padres Friday as the club opens its bid for honors in the tough National League Western Division by hosting the revitalized Atlanta Braves in a three-game homestand.

The Padres and Braves will collide Friday and Saturday at 7 p.m. at San Diego Stadium and then wrap up the series with a 1 o'clock engagement Sunday afternoon. San Diego immediately takes to the road for nine games beginning with the L.A. Dodgers on April 12-14; the Houston Astros April 16-18 (doubleheader on the 18th) and concluding with the Cincinnati Reds April 20-21.

For the Padres, it figures to be quite an impressive first three days of the season as they will kickoff the year Friday with a special patriotic pre-game program at 6:30 p.m. featuring full military bands, drum and bugle corps and flag teams and wind up the evening with a gala fireworks show.

The following evening, the world-famous King and his Court four-man softball team headlined by renowned pitcher Eddie Feigner will perform at 6 p.m. against a squad of local celebrities.

Braves Improved

The opening three games with the Braves should prove to be very interesting, Padres third-year manager John McNamara said. "They figure to be quite improved over last year. A couple of key trades netted such names as Jimmy Wynn and Jerry Royster. Many pick Royster as one of the upcoming young players in the game.

"Additionally, the club has undergone a facelifting with a new owner in Ted Turner, so we could possibly be seeing another situation much like ourselves when Ray Kroc took over the Padres two seasons ago."

Of course, other obstacles loom in the Padres path as they must take to the road almost immediately.

"You like to open the season at home with a substantial homestand," said McNamara, "but this season the schedule has us at home just for those three games with the Braves and then we're off for nine games. We're not worried about a lengthy road trip right off the bat, but we would have preferred a few more dates at home prior to the first swing."

Shuttle Service to Padres Opening Dates

San Diego Transit will provide bus service to and from the San Diego Padres baseball games to be played at the stadium this season.

East County riders can board the stadium specials to this weekend's home opener dates at the southwest parking lot of Grossmont Shopping Center or at College Grove Shopping Center, adjacent to College Grove drive.

The special stadium fare of 50 cents per trip enables riders to travel from any point on San Diego's transit system, changing where necessary to connect with a stadium special. They should tell the driver when boarding that their destination is the stadium and the driver will issue a transfer which allows the riders transfers to connect with a stadium bus.

Saturday Roll-Off to Select Bolero Bowling Tourney Reps.

An all-expense paid trip to Washington D.C. goes to the winning man and woman bowler at this Saturday's roll-off at the Brunswick Bowlero, it was announced by Michael Baker, manager of the Lemon Grove bowling center.

Baker said 48 bowlers will roll three games starting at 3 p.m. The man and woman bowling the most pins over average in a single game will be sent to the nation's capital to represent the center in the international finals of Brunswick's 11th annual "Bowl Your Way to Europe" tournament, May 28-30.

The public is invited to attend Saturday's tournament.

Participants qualify for the roll-off by winning the high game of the month award at the Bowlero. Each qualified league bowler at the center is placed in one of four classes: men, 150 average and under and 151 average or over; and women 130 and under and 131 and over.

Each month, the bowler rolling the highest game in each class receives a plaque and becomes eligible for the local roll-off.

The two winners this Saturday will represent the bowling center in Washington D.C. They will compete against 454 bowlers from other centers in the United States and Canada.

Captain Henry Schilpp from the Lemon Grove Sheriff's substation and Miss Lemon Grove, Kathy Simmons, will present trophies Saturday.

Riverside Goes Metric In NASCAR Stock Event

RIVERSIDE — NASCAR stock car racing will go metric June 13 at Riverside International Raceway.

On that date the seventh annual Riverside 400 will be contested at 400 kilometers rather than its customary 400 miles.

The metric NASCAR Winston Cup Grand National event will cover about 248.9 miles, which Raceway president Les Richter predicts will set a trend in American motor racing.

"I believe it will be a better distance for fans and competitors alike, especially on our road course at Riverside," Richter said. "It will cut the time of the race from about four hours to just under 2:30. Our studies indicate this is an ideal viewing time."

"If we have guessed right, it seems logical that other NASCAR events will adopt the metric distance. Of course, it is well known that the United States will eventually adapt to the metric sytem in all its forms."

The new distance was proposed, Richter said, during his negotiations with CBS. The race will be seen nationally on a delayed basis, and will be the first stock car road race ever televised by a major network.

The companion event that same day will provide enough additional racing action to satisfy both stock car gourmets and gluttons. The preliminary NASCAR Late Model Sportsman event has been stretched from 100 to 150 miles and redubbed the California 150.

As for the Riverside 400, it will attract all of NASCAR's leading performers, including Richard Petty, David Pearson, Cale Yarborough, Bobby Allison, Buddy Baker, Benny Parsons, Darrell Waltrip and Dave Marcis. It will be the first time that the June race has captured all of the Winston Cup circuit's top stars.

Not only has the feature race been shortened to increase the "dollar-per-mile" take of the racers but the purse has been increased to more than $100,000 to put it in roughly the same payoff class as the January Winston Western 500, on a mileage basis.

Tickets are on sale at Ticketron agencies.

Charger Film For Clubs, Groups

Just when everyone has his mind on baseball, the Chargers unwound their new Charger highlight film at a luncheon Monday at the Encanto Boys club.

It was one of the few overcast days — just cool enough to think about the kinks such weather might bring to the arms of the Padres pitching staff.

After seeing the film—"Accent on Youth" — thoughts turned to the crash of bodies across a scrimmage line.

The film features Chargers defensive line "Rookie Triumvirate" of Fred Dean, Louie Kelcher and Gary Johnson plus other rookie standouts Rickey Young and Mike Fuller.

Flip Wilson is in a scene or two for comedy relief.

The 26-minute film is narrated by Andy Musser and will be seen by the Charger Backers on April 15 at the Sports Club of the Stadium.

The film may be borrowed by organized groups if they call Pat Rogers at the Chargers office—280-2111.

TAKE FIVE

By John E. Wirges

Oh, Happy Day. The cold and damp of winter's inactivity have been chased into the past and the spring and summer of baseball has arrived to warm the land and bring happiness to the folks.

Baseball. America's greatest contribution to the bank of world culture. It's a living sport, renewed each year in hope and anticipation, and enjoyed through sweet success and bitter frustration with equal pleasure.

Baseball is as American as Blue Grass horse racing or turkey soup. It stands with apple pie, motherhood, the flag and corn squeezings as great institutions of national respect.

Baseball is one of our greatest exports, played with rich affection in such politically diverse cultures as Cuba, Venezuela, most of Latin America and Japan.

It is played by children in Taiwan, Mexico City and Reykjavik, Iceland. It was exported to Australia, New Zealand and the lands of the Pacific by millions of ball playing servicemen. They didn't take it to Japan. The sons of the Rising Sun had a big jump on the rest of the Far East.

Tiz' said some of the boys in Commodore Matt C. Perry's crews played pick up games when the American fleet visited Japan in 1853 and the Japanese have been playing the game ever since.

But that is neither here nor elsewhere. The big news of the day is baseball's return. Once again we can storm the gates at San Diego Stadium and watch men play a boy's game to their, and our, ever lovin' content.

Now, no one worth his salt doesn't pick his home town club to win the pennant, playoffs and world series when such choosing is kicked around at the barber shop this time of year.

The funny thing, for the first time in their history, the Padres really do have an assortment of supporters who figure John McNamara's crew will be in there fighting for the pennant right down to the end of the season.

And you can count this portable pounder right in there among 'em. I like the depth and the speed this year. Solid defense and power in the pinch department with some good strong arms in the starting rotation and in support give the Padres an added dimension for this campaign. It looks an awful lot like "winning potential."

The key to the infield is Doug Rader, the "Golden Glove" third baseman acquired from Houston over the winter. He is quick, gutsey, smart, talented and carries 10 tons of humor on a short leash.

He has power, but he strikes out a lot. The only other rap on Doug is his feet. The wags have it his dogs are shot. But listen up. Doug has labored nine years at Houston where they play indoors on a carpet. And that would be hard on anyone's tootsy's.

His strikeouts and average batting mark just might be the result of Astro batting coach Harry "The Hat" Walker, who believes everybody should bat like him. He's of the "take two and hit to right" school.

Padre batting coach Dick Sisler is more inclined to help a guy with what he has rather than try to change everything to conform to book figures.

The soft ground at San Diego Stadium and a more "understanding" batting coach could add years to Rader's career and an increase to his average.

The other big plus for the Padres this campaign is center fielder Willie Davis. He brings experience, speed, range and a "stick it to 'em" attitude that could have a profound effect on the fightin' outlook of the Padre Parsonage.

Some of the Padres take too many pitches. It's a real problem. They go up there looking for a walk, hoping to just "get on." There are too many "defensive" batters in the lineup. Or, at least, there have been. Sisler has changed some of that.

And Davis will change it some more. He hates to walk. A pitcher really has to work at it to give Willie a pass. He only walked 18 times last year in more than 500 at bats. You call that "aggressive." And hopefully, it's contagious.

Yes Sir, it looks as if there'll be lots of fun at Padre games this year.

Alex Groza Named Breakers Exec

The San Diego Breakers of the International Volleyball Assn. announced the appointment of Alex Groza to the position of Vice President and General Manager.

Groza, former administrator for the Kentucky and San Diego teams of the American Basketball Assn., is a former All American from the University of Kentucky. He won a gold medal as a member of the victorious U.S. basketball team in the 1948 Olympics held in England.

"There are a lot of similiarities between basketball and volleyball," Groza said, "and I look forward with eager anticipation to help make the Breakers the champions of the IVA during the upcoming season."

Groza also announced that the Breakers would initiate their 20-game, 1976 home season against the IVA champion L.A. Stars on Sunday May 30 at the San Diego Sports Arena at 7:30 p.m.

State Track Team In Dual Meet

Defending NCAA Division II track team Northridge State visits Sportsman Oval on San Diego State campus Friday at 2 p.m. for a dual meet with the Aztecs.

The Matadors of Northridge are blessed with several top individual stars, but have fallen upon hard times in dual meets this season. The Matadors are 1-4 in dual meets, beating UC Santa Barbara 116-46 and losing to USC 133-43, UC Irvine 102-52, Los Angeles State 90-73 and Long Beach State 106-55.

The meet with Northridge will be the last home meet of the season for the Aztecs, who still have road meets against UC Irvine and Occidental, UCSB and Nevada (Las Vegas) in addition to several relay meets and the PCAA Championships.

Mariners Open Playoffs Friday vs. Roadrunners

The San Diego Mariners make their opening venture into 1976 WHA playoffs this week when they begin a best of five series with the Phoenex Roadrunners. Action starts at Phoenix, Friday, then switches to the Sports Arena for a 7:30 Saturday night faceoff.

The third game is at Phoenix, April 13, the fourth, if necessary, at San Diego, on the 15, and the fifth if needed, at Phoenix on the 17.

Phoenix finished second and San Diego third in the WHA Western Division this season and the winner of the series will meet division champ Houston in a best of seven series to determine the West representative in the semi-final playoff round.

The semi-finals will have the West meeting the Eastern Division representative in a best of seven and the league's AVCO Cup finals pit the East-West winner against the Canadian Division playoff winner in a United States vs. Canada showdown.

San Diego is in the playoffs for the second time in as many years since coming to town prior to the 1974-75 campaign. The Mariners advanced to the semi-final round last year, defeating Toronto and losing to eventual AVCO titlist Houston.

Cajon Speedway is 'Go' For Season's Opener

The 1976 super stock car season opens Saturday night at the popular 3/8th mile, asphalt-surfaced oval at Cajon Speedway.

Racing traffic on the two-and-three groove, hi-banked track will provide the show which begins at 8 p.m.

Qualifications for an anticipated 60 super-stocks will get underway at 6:30 p.m.

Three-time defending champion Pat McIntyre is tuned-up for the opener after last week's 3-hour practice.

McIntyre, last season, won seven, set fast time twice and won two trophy dashes while being in the top five in 17 races.

'75 runner-up, Tim Biggers of El Cajon blew an engine during hot-lapping and will go this Saturday night with an untested power plant.

Third place finisher, Young Ron Esau of San Diego, has high hopes for the year. He finished with one main event, three fast times, four trophy dashes and wound up in the top five, eleven trips.

More than 40 cars, the largest ever for a practice, arrived for last week's trials assuring large fields for the 24 race season ahead for the stocks.

The "man on the spot' will be McIntyre, a Spring Valley building contractor, as the field will be out to topple him.

Pat is the only three time champion in the El Cajon Stock Car Racing Association history.

USDA to Hold Agents to New Stamp Rules

The U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) has proposed amendments to the regulations for its food stamp program to tighten the accountability of food stamp issuance agents.

The proposal announced recently requires state welfare agencies to withhold payments to issuing agents until they . . .

—submit "Authorization to Purchase" (ATP) cards for all issuance transactions. ATP cards, issued monthly, specify the amount of food stamps to be sold to each household, and must be turned over to the issuance agent when coupons are purchased.

—file reports accounting for all cash and food stamps involved in issuance transactions.

—deposit cash collected from food stamp sales to the Federal Reserve Bank.

These provisions must be included in the contracts that state agencies sign with private issuance agents delegating the authority to sell food stamps.

The proposed regulations were published in the Federal Register March 19. The public is invited to submit written comments, suggestions or objections to Vernon R. Morgan, Acting Director, Food Stamp Division, Food and Nutrition Service, U.S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D.C. 20250, no later than April 19. All comments received by the date will be considered before final regulations are issued.

Readout Given on Lions Vision Tests

More than 2,500 Lemon Grove school children have had their eyes examined by local optometrists in the four-year history of a school vision program financed by the Lemon Grove Lions Club, according to Gary Sweet, club president.

This year, 754 youngsters underwent the examination and 64 were found to need professional vision care or retesting, he said.

Labeled the L.G. School Vision Screen Program, the screening is provided free of charge to the youngsters.

All kindergarten and new students in the district are tested each year. The four-year history of the program shows 14 per cent of those screened have vision problems. Nationwide the rate is 18 per cent. No reason is given for the 4 per cent advantage locally.

More than 30 Lemon Grove residents received financially supported care at the Lions Optometric Vision Clinic last year, Sweet said. Most of these were children of families living on marginal income but not eligible for public assistance.

This clinic is in its 12th year and has served more than 6,000 S.D. residents. The clinic is totally financed by Lions Clubs and is staffed by 60 volunteer optometrists.

Lions Clubs vision programs are financed entirely from the revenues resulting from their White Cane Days events held annually in October.

Vets' Dependents Get Medical Program

Some 80,000 children of permanently and totally disabled veterans are receiving medical care from private physicians and hospitals through CHAMPVA, the Civilian Health and Medical Program of the Veterans Administration.

The cost-sharing program is an extension of CHAMPUS, the military's Civilian Health and Medical Program of the Uniformed Services. The military program permits dependents of active-duty members and retired members and their dependents use of civilian medical facilities.

The child must be under 18 years of age, although children attending college or enrolled in other training may be eligible up to age 23. Marriage terminates eligibility.

Those incapable of self-support because of a mental or physical incapacity that existed before age 18 may be eligible indefinitely.

Full information on CHAMPVA is available at any VA regional office or medical facility.

Dept. of Revenue to Handle Child Support

All persons paying child support through the San Diego County Probation Department are now required to make their payments to the County's Department of Revenue and Recovery.

The switch is a result of action taken by the Board of Supervisors in February which transferred the responsibility for enforcement of these accounts to the District Attorney and to the Department of Revenue and Recovery and became effective April 1.

All persons who were formerly under formal probation to the Probation Department for failure to provide, are now under summary probation to the Municipal Court.

Payments can be mailed to the Department of Revenue and Recovery, P.O. Box 2802, San Diego.

Study Indicates Delicate Balance Between Energy Price, Food Costs

What does the energy problems facing this country have to do with the price of tomatoes?

Plenty, according to a recently completed study, as interpreted by a professor at University of California, Davis.

The project, conducted by the Interdisciplinary Systems Groups at the university, concludes that Americans may soon be faced with the political decision to hold down either the price of energy or the cost of food. The two seem to be interdependent, according to Kenneth E. F. Watt, professor, system ecologist, author and spokesman for the group.

"The gist of the political question is: Would the American consumer be better served by lower energy prices or by lower food prices?" said Watts.

Either/Or

"Like so many other energy-related questions, this is an either/or situation."

The months ahead, he says, are critical in this energy-food equation because politicians may tend to make decisions on the basis of their personal short-run advantages and without considering the long-range consequences for the nation.

The computer results show that opting for low energy prices will stimulate energy consumption and result in higher food costs.

"What must be understood is the fact that what is 'saved' at the gasoline pump will be "charged" at the grocery store checkout counter. There is no other possibility, given the present direction of national energy policy," Watts said.

Trade Balance

"Lower energy prices will stimulate a consumption. Increased consumption means increased oil imports. The only exportable 'product' the U. S. now has to meet the bulk of its trade balance with other countries is food stuffs.

"Thus," says Watts, "the lower the cost of energy, the more energy consumed, the more imported oil, the more exported agricultural commodities, the higher the prices at the grocery store.

"Even though the price of energy used by the farmers would also increase, the impact on the consumer would still be significantly less than the costs associated with low energy prices."

As an example of the possible effects of holding down energy prices, computer simulations showed a 66 per cent rise in the prices of wheat by the year 2000 if energy prices are lower than high.

Alternate Sources

Alternate sources of energy are essential to the energy-food equation, the study indicates. Watt noted that other aspects of the equation indicate that higher food prices, coupled with the absence of alternate energy sources, may heighten the probability of an economic depression with its attendant side effects — unemployment, crime and related costs.

"This will ultimately force a wrenching adjustment as energy prices are allowed to rise rapidly to correct the mistake," he declares.

Watt challenges those who insist that higher energy prices would constitute a disaster for the nation to explain why other developed countries have had higher rates of growth in GNP per capita (a noted exception is the United Kingdom) than that of the U. S. in the past decade, when all have had much higher energy prices relative to income.

The potential effect on food prices is "awesome" to Watts, "because we can find options to gasoline, and conserve other energies, but there is no option to food."

The professor predicts that "as food exports and prices rise to meet the future trade balance demands of this country, more of the population will be pressed into desperate circumstances."

A Look at Past Issues

Back Pages

A look at the pages of this newspaper twenty years ago reveals some of the interesting contrasts between then and now. This column highlights some of the items that appeared in this newspaper at this time two decades ago.

By Bruce Binkowski

Twenty years ago this week there were problems concerning a malt shop in the Monterey Heights area off Skyline drive. Teenagers used the malt shop as a meeting place and several residents were complaining about the "juvenile nuisance." More than 35 fathers and mothers had a meeting and complained about the "promiscuous, obscene and vile activity" in the parking area of the Skyline Drive Malt Shop.

One parent complained that ". . . it is no longer safe for adults, let alone children, to go out after dark because of the threats, insolence, and suggestive remarks made by teenage ruffians who park in the area of the malt shop." Other complaints included juveniles smoking, drinking and fighting in the area.

Not an uncommon occurance 20 years ago or today, but rest assured the television series "Happy Days" is not based on this particular malt shop.

* * *

Lemon Grove Girl Scouts were selling cookies back in 1956 to aid their program. Local youngsters, now many with children of their own in the organization, sold over $3,000 in cookies to Lemon Grove residents.

* * *

Cars on sale in the classified section of the Review/Bulletin included a 1950 Studebaker Starlite Coup with "radio, heater and overdrive." A 1947 Mercury was on sale for only $195 and a 1955 Dodge V-8 3/4-ton pickup could be purchased for $1195.

* * *

The Lemon Grove Chamber of Commerce and the local chapter of the Jaycees finalized plans for a two day rodeo that was held on July 21 and 22, 1956. The event took place on the grounds of St. John of the Cross Church. Other events, in the start of what we now know as Old Time Days, included square dancing, western displays and a fiesta.

Lice Are Growing County Problem

Recent inquiries to the County Department of Health about lice have indicated the insects are a growing problem in the area.

Lice are small parasitic insects which live on animals or plants and thrive on blood or fluids. There are three types: head, body and pubic or crab. Head lice usually live on the head and attach their nits (eggs) to the hair. Body lice prefer clothing and attach nits to clothing fibers.

Crab lice mainly infest the pubic hair and attach nits only to hair.

The insects are spread by close, person-to-person contact or articles of clothing. A physician or druggist can recommend a product to eradicate the pests.

To avoid reinfestation, clothes, towels, bedding, combs and brushes should be washed thoroughly with soap and hot water.

People often find it difficult to discuss the problem of lice because of the social stigma. Their reluctance, unfortunately, has only added to the insect's growing prevalence, according to the health department.

Regardless of good personal hygiene practices, anyone is susceptible to infestation if exposed to the insect.

County's Sales Tax For March Listed

The State Board of Equalization has announced the following distribution of more than $91.4 million to California counties and cities from the March allocations of sales and use tax receipts.

Alllocations to San Diego County cities:

Carlsbad $131,300; Del Mar $9,200; National City $241,600; Oceanside $127,100 and Vista $73,600.

State's Taxable Sales up 11%

Taxable sales in California climbed to $20.3 billion during the fourth quarter of 1975, up $2.0 billion or 11.1 per cent above totals for the final quarter of 1974, according to a report issued by the State Board of Equalization.

The Board said that the cautiously optimistic forecasts of most economic analysts that fourth quarter sales would increase were justified, as growth in taxable sales surpassed the relative increase in the Consumer Price Index for the first time during 1975.

California's December retail prices were 8.5 per cent higher than they were one year earlier, the Board noted, while the rate of inflation was declining. On a "constant dollar" basis, therefore, the volume of taxable sales actually expanded about 2.5 per cent above volume during the final quarter of 1974.

"Constant dollar" is the purchasing power of the dollar which is continually being eroded by inflation. To eliminate the effects of inflation, the business volume is expressed in terms of dollars of constant purchasing power by the State Board of Equalization.

Bollman Urges 'No' Vote on Nuclear Prop.

Mike Bollman, candidate for State Assembly in the 77th Assembly District, told the Centre City Kiwanis Club breakfast meeting at the San Diego Zoo diningroom yesterday, that Proposition 15, the Nuclear Initiative, must be defeated because it will be detrimental to our country's economy and our national defense.

"The United States and the State of California are short of energy at the present time and we must do everything in our power to become energy self-sufficient," Bollman said.

"This initiative is extremely dangerous since, if it is passed, it not only will halt construction of all nuclear facilities, but most likely will result in our present nuclear energy plants being gradually phased out," he said.

"Nuclear energy is needed if we are going to be able to hold down steadily rising utility bills because fossil fuels, which would have to be used instead of nuclear energy to provide fuel for our power plants, is about twice as expensive as nuclear generated-electricity.

"Most importantly, however, is the fact that nuclear energy has a perfect safety record. Not one single member of the general public in the United States has been killed or injured due to radiation from the operation of any licensed U. S. nuclear power plant. This record is substantially better than any other available fuel source," Bollman said.

9.5% Still Need Jobs

California's unemployment rate in March was 9.5 per cent, unchanged from February, it was reported by the state's Employment Development Department.

However, the Department noted, the jobless total fell by 30,300 over the month, from 1,012,700 in February to 982,400 in March. This reduction reflected seasonal advances in construction, agriculture and other outdoor activities as well as some increases in employment in most other industries.

California's unemployment rate peaked at 10.5 per cent last September and has been declining since then.

Postal Workers Oppose Reduced Service Plans

Editor:

The Postal Service 200 years ago was not created to be a business. It was created as a public service to the citizens of this country. We urge your readers to ask their congressmen and senators to move immediately on the Postal Subsidy bill.

Railroads receive a subsidy. The airlines subsidy has risen 84 per cent in the past five years. No one has asked these businesses not to work on Saturday or to work only three days a week.

Our government can subsidize the peanut growers in the states of Georgia, Texas and Oklahoma to the tune of $150 million a year. Yet, this same government objects to raising the subsidy to the U.S. Postal Service.

Is eliminating the monopoly the answer? We say no! The top management in the Postal Service came from private industry and look at the mess the Postal Service is in.

The Postal Workers do not agree that the old and disabled should have to walk down the street to a cluster box to receive their mail. It should be delivered to their door, as it has been for 200 years.

Are you aware that the Postal Service has on the payroll 187 people in Washington and in regional offices making from $36,000 to $60,000 a year? This does not even touch the management people in the thousands of post offices throughout the country. Did you know that the Postal Service has one management personnel for each ten craft workers?

Approximately six months ago San Diego was ruled out as a sight for a large national insurance company. One of the main reasons for this was "poor" mail service.

On March 1, Ralph S. Colonell retired as postmaster of San Diego. Immediately afterward, out of town postal management personnel came in. It was determined that San Diego could no longer administer to the postal needs of San Diego. Los Angeles will now dictate San Diego's postal needs.

After only eight days, with no facts or figures, it was determined to eliminate over 400 craft employees, thus cutting your service further. Could this mean that Los Angeles might generate new growth for their own area by making other areas less attractive?

We ask your support to help our far-from-good Postal Service in this area from deteriorating further. Write your congressmen and senators, urging immediate action to stop this blatant attempt by postal management to rob the citizens in this area of their Postal Service.

At Centennial, McGlennon will head up a new service division which provides liaison with builders, contractors and banks.

Identification confusion came when another attorney named Andreen—Robert Andreen—attracted considerable media attention when he was indicted last week.

Among similarities is that both Andreens serve as school board trustees. Phil Andreen, the assembly candidate, serves on the Coronado School Board and was president last year. Robert Andreen serves on the Grossmont Union High School District Board. Robert Andreen was a candidate for the assembly in 1971. "Phil is the one running for the 79th Assembly District seat," Phil Andreen said this week.

The current candidate is a member of the Lions club, a Deacon of his church, a professional trombonist, a ranking tennis player while in college, a song writer, a pro tem Municipal Court Judge from time to time and was recently named to the California Bar Committee Studying Juvenile Justice.

Highway Death Toll for '75 Near '74 Low

Californians drove more miles and were involved in more fatal accidents last year even though the death rate held steady near the all-time low set in 1974, the California Highway Patrol reported last week.

Final figures just tallied by the CHP show 4,189 were killed on California streets and highways, up slightly from the 4,019 of 1974.

Motorists logged an estimated 131.3 billion miles, about four billion more than 1974. The death rate remained at 3.2 fatalities for 100 million miles of driving, identical to the 1974 figure.

The leveling of traffic deaths "probably reflects the impact of reduced speed, greater driver awareness and mild weather — as well as enforcement emphasis," CHP Commissioner Glen Craig said.

Speed arrests totaled more than 1.2 million last year, while drunk driving arrests, at 122,840, recorded their second higest figure, Craig said. The drunk driving figure represents about 14 per cent of the national total, he said.

Two From Area Are Qualified Tax Reps

Two local residents were among the 303 in the Southern California Internal Revenue Service District who successfully completed the IRS's 1975 Special Enrollment Examination.

Terry Everson of Spring Valley and Leroy Herzig of Lemon Grove passed the exam designed to assure the technical competence of persons other than attorneys and certified public accounts who present matters of their clients to the IRS.

Treatment Plant 'Rental' Saves Helix District $$$

Otay and Rio San Diego municipal water districts will "rent" part of Helix Water District R. M. Levy Treatment Plant under terms of an agreement approved last week by the Helix board of directors.

The agreement is between Helix Water District and San Diego County Water Authority. The Authority board is expected to approve the agreement at its meeting today.

All Benefit

The beneficiaries will be water users in the Otay and Rio San Diego districts, who will not have to foot the bill for construction and operation of their own treatment plant.

Also benefiting will be residents of the Helix Water District in having part of the Levy plant's capital and operating costs paid by the neighboring water users.

"This agreement has advantages for all concerned," said Helix President Harry Griffen. "We have capacity in the plant beyond what we need for the next few years, while the other two agencies must provide the service one way or another. We are offering them their least expensive alternative and saving our own customers money at the same time."

"However, we will be able to continue this agreement only during the time we have the excess capacity available," Griffen said. He said the excess could be gone within 15 years.

Water From North

To meet state and federal quality standards, all supplies from the state water (Feather River) project must receive full treatment before being delivered for domestic consumption. Northern California water is expected to be piped into San Diego County beginning in mid-1977.

Several agencies, including Helix, which serve highly populated areas have provided at least partial treatment to improve water quality.

Helix is in the process of adding settling basins to its plant to meet the new standard. As a by-product, a greater volume can be processed. It is this capacity, greater than that now needed to supply Helix customers, which is being made available through the Water Authority to Otay and Rio San Diego.

The agreement expires in 1980, but a new agreement is expected then.

Bicentennial Bicycle Route Near Completion

The 900-mile California Bicentennial Bicycle Route between the Oregon and Mexican Borders is nearing completion. The route mainly follows State Highways 1, 101 and County Route S-21 along the Pacific Coastline.

Directional bicycle signs and route guide maps are being made so that cyclists will be able to find their way along the route. The maps will indicate overnight camping sites, road conditions, tourist and historic attractions, along with mileage between towns and grade information. The signs and maps will be ready this spring.

Costs for the signs and maps are being shared between the California Department of Transportation and the California American Revolution Bicentennial Commission.

The route was sponsored through legislation by San Diego Senator James R. Mills.

DMV Reminds: Cycles, Buggies Need Permit

The California Department of Motor Vehicles has given warning to California motorists who operate dune buggies on their private property or transport motorcycles from one racing event to another. As of the first of this year all off-highway vehicles are required to be registered with the DMV.

Owners of such vehicles must purchase off-highway vehicle identification plates which are valid through June 30 of the second year the plates are issued. The cost is $15 for all or any part of the two-year term. The identification sticker must be attached to the vehicle in a clearly visible area.

A special three dollar transportation identification permit is required for any motorcycle transported upon California highways and used exclusively for racing in sanctioned events within the state.

Violators may be cited by the California Highway Patrol, city police or county sheriff departments.

Taxpayers Ask IRS

This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the local office of the U.S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

Q. How do I know if I must file a tax return this year?

A. A single person, under age 65, must file a tax return if the year's gross income is $2,350 or more. The income requirement increases to $3,100 for a person 65 or older. A single person who may be claimed as a dependent by another taxpayer must file a return if the individual's income is at least $750, or if he or she has received any unearned income during the year.

Married persons living together and planning to file a joint return do not have to submit the return unless their combined income is at least $3,400. If they file separately, or are not living in the same household, each must file a return when his or her income reaches $750. The $750 requirement also applies to each of them if another taxpayer is entitled to claim either the wife or husband as an exemption.

When either the wife or husband is 65 or older, the income requirement for filing jointly increases to $4,150, and to $4,900 if both are 65 or older.

Q. I would like to take my income tax form to a commercial tax consultant. Does the IRS have any guidance?

A. When you take your income tax form to a commercial tax consultant, you can take some precautions to ensure that your return is prepared honestly. Avoid preparers who guarantee refunds, want a percentage of the refund or claim to know "all the angles." Avoid ones who advise taxpayers to overstate deductions, claim fictitious dependents or omit income.

Never sign a blank return nor one done in pencil, since it can be changed later. Do not allow your refund check to be sent to the preparer, and insist that the preparer sign the return. Also, be sure to keep a copy of the return.

Q. I received a refund in 1975 from my 1974 state income tax. Do I have to report this on my 1975 Federal income tax return?

A. If you did not deduct the state taxes represented by the refund on your 1974 Federal income tax return, you do not have to report the state refund. Otherwise, you must include the refund as income.

On the other hand, if you itemized and paid in 1975 a balance due on your 1974 state tax, you should add this payment to your 1975 state income tax withheld to determine the deduction on your Federal income tax for 1975.

Cancer Society Needs Volunteer Drivers

Volunteers to transport cancer patients are urgently needed by the San Diego County Unit of the American Cancer Society, according to Judith Carroll, volunteer transportation coordinator of the Unit.

"The Freewheeler program is one of the oldest and most important segments of the patient services program of the Society," said Ms. Carroll. The volunteer drivers spend half a day weekly or monthly, depending upon patient needs and the volunteers' availability.

"No definite schedule needs to be set. Since patients live all over the County our needs are county-wide,' she said.

Volunteers are contacted when there is a patient request. Volunteers should contact the service department of the American Cancer Society, in downtown San Diego, 235-6586.

VETERAN BANKER— Spring Valley resident Francis L. Relaford, a trust officer with Bank of America's San Diego District Trust Office, marked his 30th year with the statewide bank in March.

Relaford, who joined the bank in 1946 as an escrow clerk, has been assigned to the San Diego trust office since 1958. He was promoted to assistant trust officer in 1960 and to trust officer in 1965.

Active in civic affairs, he is a member and past president of the San Diego Optimist Club and a member of the San Diego Downtown Association, the SD Chamber of Commerce, SD Taxpayers Assn. and the Casa de Oro Planning Assn. He and wife Dorothy live on Madrid way with the two youngest of their four daughters.

SV's US Elevator Wins $625,000 Contracts

Contracts amounting to more than $625,000 have been awarded to U. S. Elevator for the engineering, manufacture and installation of passenger and freight elevators.

The Spring Valley firm received an order from The Lerner Companies of Wheaton, Maryland approaching $225,000 for a bank of hydraulic units.

Elevators will be installed in a shopping center in Rockville, Maryland.

A second contract is for a bank of geared passenger elevators and four hydraulic units at Intermountain Health Care, Inc., Provo, Utah.

Regulation Amended For Nutrition Program

The U.S. Department of Agriculture has amended its regulations governing the donation of food to federally funded nutrition programs for the elderly.

The Act requires USDA to set minimum annual levels of commodity assistance to state and private agencies operating non-profit food service or nutrition programs funded under Title 7 of the Act.

The amended regulation boost the minimum assistance level to not less than 15 cents a meal served between July 1, 1975 and September 30, 1976, and 25 cents for the fiscal year ending September 30, 1977.

These minimum levels will be further adjusted each fiscal year, to reflect changes in the food away from home series of the Consumer Price Index.

The Older Americans Act authorizes a specific appropriation of funds before October 1, 1976, for the purchase of high-protein food, meat and meat alternates for distribution to these programs. Under the amended regulations, when such commodities are purchased with these specially appropriated funds, they will not count toward meeting the minimum level of commodity assistance prescribed by USDA regulations.
